The Suspicions of Lent

On Valentine's Day, we began the solemn season of Lent. This season is meant to help us prepare for the death and resurrection of Christ.

In the summer of 2009, Rob Hill of Mars Hill Ministries, hosted Poets, Prophets, Preachers, a conference on reclaiming the art of the sermon. Peter Rollins, a presenter, led a discussion on "iconic" collective that offers experiments in transformance (transformative performance art). This kind of art, in part, offers a radical, postmodern forms of worship for those on the margins of faith and the church.

For our purpose, we consider one exercise that they did that can inform our Lenten observances. Peter Rollins called is "Atheism for Lent." Each year, they read a book influenced by, or about, the prominent writers who wrote suspiciously of faith and the Church. Feuerbach, Marx, Freud and Nietzsche. This practice, though radical, resonates with Cornelius Plantinga's idea in Not the Way It's Supposed to Be: A Breviary of Sin, "Before we seek to score points against the genetic fallacies and ad hominem arguments of modern atheists, before we 'turn suspicion again the suspicious,' perhaps we ought to adopt self-suspicion 'as the [practice] of Lent.' We ought to consider the possibility that in our own religion, 'what presents itself as an altruistic virtue may be, in terms of motive and function, only an egoistic vice dressed up in its Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes.'" (p.111)

This quote from Plantinga may be a fruitful approach to Lent because our own religion can easily become an egoistic vice dressed up in Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes, and our own people, especially our neighbors know this. Pastors and church leaders are not unfamiliar with the critique that the church is full of hypocrites who act one way on Sunday mornings and another entirely the rest of the week. And truthfully, even the leaders of our church-maybe especially the leaders of our churches-are guilty of this. So Lent, the season for repentance, begins with a reminder of our profound sin and mortality (Ash Wednesday) and walks us all the way to a cross, if we are honest, we recognize as the place where we crucified the Son of God. It is not at all out of place, during this time, to listen to those suspicious of religion, and suspicious of the church, precisely in order to encourage and develop our own self-suspicion.

There are many ways to exercise self-suspicion during Lent. One is to recommit to the practice of confession. Allow yourself to be completely with God both during corporate confession on Sunday mornings but also in your private individual confession with God.

Allow this season of Lent to be a time where suspicion rules your life and let that's suspicion transform you into an even greater disciple for Christ on this earth dedicated to the poor, the lost and being the hands and feet of God.

In Christ Always,
Pastor Tom

Why don't we use Alleluias during Lent?

Because of the penitential character of the season of Lent, singing or saying the word "alleluia" has historically been suspended during Lent's forty days. This period of individual and congregational reflection on the quality of our baptismal faith and life suggests that the joyful nature of alleluia is more appropriately reserved for our Easter celebrations when it is given full and jubilant voice.

The omission of alleluia during Lent goes back at least to the fifth century in the western church. The custom of actually bidding it farewell, however, developed in the Middle Ages. The hymn "Alleluia, song of gladness" (Evangelical Lutheran Worship #318) contains a translation of an 11th century Latin text that compares an alleluia-less Lent to the exile of the Israelites in Babylon. The text then anticipates the joy of Easter when glad alleluias will return in all their heavenly splendor.

At First, we will "resurrect" the Alleluia on Easter morning but for congregations who celebrate the Easter Vigil on Holy Saturday night, they will burst out singing the Alleluia at the moment of the declaration of Christ's resurrection.

So instead of the Alleluia, we focus on the penitential nature of Lent and our respective humanity with Christ.

BIBLE STUDY

It's All Greek to Me Monday Night Bible Study

Pastor Tom is leading a weekly Bible study on Monday nights at 6:30PM in Study Lounge. This Bible study will be a time to explore the Bible, our Christian faith and our Lutheran heritage. This conversational style of study will seek to make the bible and our faith relevant to our lives and usefulness in our everyday living.

INTRODUCING CAMP MESSIAH

July 8-12, 2004
God's World

This summer, Pastor Tom is beginning a whole new ministry called Camp Messiah. This Camp is a student-run, adult-mentored Christian day camp ministry where campers learn Bible stories and connect with staff. The student leaders are formed with support from adults within the congregation.

Pastor Tom will be the overall director of this day camp with high schoolers from around our neighborhood as staff to the elementary aged campers.

Pastor Tom has led many of these summer experiences in his previous calls in Texas. Pastor expects Camp Messiah to bring about wonderful benefits for the children campers, youth leaders, and the congregation. These benefits include:

Campers grow through a day camp experience in which they immerse themselves in a different Bible story several times throughout each day.

Staff gain confidence in their leadership as they learn life skills such as time management, flexibility, and responsibility.

We build strong neighborhood ministries and nurture youth who are excited about their faith, bonded with each other, and eager to step into leadership.

Camp Hope is a gift to parents who are looking for an affordable, safe place for their children to spend time during the summer.

This year's theme is God's World. We will learn about five countries from five continents and learn how God works in all those countries and peoples.

The camp day will be from 8:30AM to 3:00PM and during the camp day, the campers will have age-appropriate bible study, games, music, arts and crafts and healthy lunches and snacks. On Tuesday and Thursday of the camp week, there will be Drench Days when they can play with water outside. This week promises to be a time of great fun, joyful play, edifying singing, meaningful new friends, and great learning about God's World.

The dates for Camp Messiah is July 8-12.

We are looking for high school youth to be a staff members and in April, we will have the registration forms available to sign up. If you have children younger than sixth grade, consider having them be campers in this new and exciting ministry.

Please call the church office or Pastor Tom with any questions.

EASTER FLOWERS ORDER FORM 2024

BLOOD BANK

March Blood Drive

Thank you to those who have donated in the past. As you may know, you can donate every 56 days, so we have scheduled our next drive for March 11-16 so that you can stay on schedule.

Needless to say, the Blood Bank is always in need of new donors!

For anyone who wishes to donate but doesn't have a ride, please call the church office and let them know when you would like to go.

If you would be willing to drive someone and wait for them to donate, please call the church office and let them know your availability.

If you have any questions, please contact Jean Parker at 814-528-5817.

We appreciate the generosity of Messiah Lutheran Church. Christmas 2023 at the Mercy Center was filled with joy and gratitude.

Thank you for your kindness.

Jennie Hagerty, Executive Director

He Is Risen!

So you were born white, black, brown, red or yellow? So what? You have a brain, lungs and kidneys that are interchangeable with any color. So what if you are slim or fat? Does it really matter what is your political party? Are you a perfect specimen? Everyone has flaws. We are not Jesus.

Jesus is perfect, the Son of God and Son of Man, yet He gave His perfect self so that we can all be equally saved.

Being filled with hate and prejudice is such a waste of time and energy. Our lives are finite. Why should we give away that precious time? Why squander our years on criticizing our fellow beings? Yes, some have hurt us with their actions. Jesus forgave even those who persecuted Him.

Jesus forgave the wicked once they repented. He forgave the harlot, telling them to sin no more. He forgave Peter. He forgave Judas. He forgives you and me.

I believe in God the Father, His only Son Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. I will live my life believing. I feel compassion for those who don't believe in the Word, yet they believe in the foolishness of Man. Our Easter season is full of promises! We don't celebrate the chocolate and lilies and eggs-we celebrate the resurrection of Christ. He didn't die on the cross for the sake of Easter baskets. He died and rose again so that we might live eternally, Even with all of our imperfections, we are made whole.

Let us give to others, not for reward, but in gratitude. Let us forgive, not because of some idea that we are better--but because we are forgiven.

Let us cry with joy! Jesus is risen! Our sins are gone and we will live with our Lord for all eternity.

From my family to yours, we wish you health, happiness, and freedom from sins of the world. Happy Easter!

HE IS RISEN!

*Your servant in Christ,
Marilyn DiLuzio Rizzo*
